TREE OF LIFE
Resorts & Hotels

Tree of Life is nestled in the valley junction of Landour and Mussoorie, very close to the clock tower or the Ghanta Ghar, as it is called by the locals

Historically, Landour was Mussoorie's European sister, which was built by and for the British Indian Army and was set up as a Cantonment and still is. It was named after Landdowror, which is a village in the Southwest Wales. Surrounded by thick deodars and red rhododendrons, it is one of the undiscovered, quaint gems of the Pahari hills. Its colonial style architecture and high-altitude viewpoints of the Shivaliks, give true joy and bliss to not only the residents but also the travelers of Dehradun.

Dine with a picturesque view of the Himalayas and the Doon Valley with foods that bring you the quintessential tastes of the hills, regional Indian delights and a combination of diverse international flavors, right here at the Oak Tree Bistro.

Sometimes the heart wants what it wants, so in case you would like a dish which is not on the menu, let our chefs know and we will try our level best to get it prepped for you!

From Landour with Love

Local specialities. Served with local pahadi salts and bhang ki chutney

Pahadi salts or Pisyu loon are traditional salts made with mustard, mint, ginger, coriander, cumin, etc.

Knowing how to make them is considered a vital Uttarakhandi skill! Bhaang ki chutney, which is considered a zingy delicacy of the Kumaon region, is made from crushed 'Bhaang' or Hemp seeds. Hemp is a real wonder crop and is used for making fabric, paper and even biodegradable plastics.
